PLP (an independent, national, legal charity) aims to improve access to public law remedies for those facing poverty, discrimination or other disadvantage. We undertake research, policy initiatives, casework and training across public law areas. Our work is carried out by a small but committed group of staff and volunteers supported by an expert management committee. We have worked hard to merit a reputation for high quality, creative and ground-breaking legal work.

We are now seeking a Finance Officer to support and expand upon our activities.

You will have the skills to manage PLP's financial and charitable affairs, and to work creatively with existing staff to improve PLP's efficiency and aid PLP's practice development. You may have a background in legal aid or voluntary sector management, and may be financially qualified. The ability to liaise with an expert management committee and to understand complex financial information is essential.

For an application pack, please visit our website: www.publiclawproject.org.uk or telephone Hollie Whyman on 0845 543 5941. Deadline for applications: 12th August 2011.

PLP is a company limited by guarantee and a registered charity (No 1003342).

PLP is an equal opportunities employer and welcomes applications from individuals with a disability whatever their impairment. Applicants should note that our current building is located over four floors and regrettably has no lift facilities. If you have a disability which you think may interfere with your ability to do the job as described, please let us know and PLP will make reasonable adjustments both at interview and on appointment. PLP will be moving to fully accessible offices later this year.
