

2018 Autumn Roundup

2018 has been an exceptional year so far for HRLA events. We have hosted David Isaac, Chair of the Equality and Human Rights Commission, David Cole, Litigation Director of the ACLU, Cressida Dick, Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police, and panel events on immigration detention, disability, data rights and the GDPR, interventions in the supply chain, and parole board reform to name a few. Our bursary fund has enabled four young lawyers to undertake internships and our Young Lawyers Committee has organised our annual Judicial Review competition and been working hard over the summer to bring you the latest edition of the Young Human Rights Lawyer.

Autumn Highlights

We have an exciting line-up in the works this Autumn. On October 10, we will be hosting a talk with Max Hill QC, Independent Reviewer of Terrorism Legislation, at Gray's Inn. We also have events lined up on disability within education, our Manchester and London career days, and our now annual Year in Review panel in December.

Many thanks to those Members who responded to our recent Survey Monkey and told us what they would like to see more of. Finally, after six years assisting the smooth running of the HRLA, our Administrator, Willow Oddie, departs for pastures new. On behalf of the committee past and present I want to thank her for all her help over the years.

I look forward to seeing you at our Autumn events.
